Gee-Gee's Coming To Fruit Belt

Finest And Fastest Recorded Harness Horses Will Race at Beamsville Next Week.

By J. Orion "Bones" Livingston
They're coming to Beamsville. The greatest array of trotters and pacers that ever graced a race track.

When Dick Morley, who has been racing harness horses since I was a baby, and all the other boys behind the Beamsville Athletic and Driving Association, tell you, that the cream of the trotting and pacing equines of Canada will be on hand on Wednesday, August 17th, to entertain you, they are telling you the truth.

With $1,700 hanging in the balance for four races you can rest assured that the horsemen will be on hand to gather in their share of that dough. The Free-for-all pace will draw one of the greatest fields of fast pacers that ever faced a starter. Look 'em over, Peter Chilcoat 2:04, Sandy Signal 2:04, Dillon Mc 2:04, Sir Fame 2:04, Midlight Grattan 2:07, and that great little pacer Dazzle Direct 2:11, last year's Canadian Champion Three-year-old pacer and futurity winner.

The Three-year-old trotters this year are the finest crop of young trotters that has ever graced Canadian tracks and they are all entered at Beamsville. See that smart going little mare Baroness Lee, also Lee McElwain, Victoria Harvester, Ginger Cowi, and a lot of other real square gaited speedsters. In the three-year-old pace you will see such rapid going horses as Bud Gano, Patricia D. Voile Lee, Gratian Lee and others.

Come and see that slashing pacing son of Gratian Bars 1:59, do his stuff in the 2:28 class, none other than Day Gratian 2:10, but he will not have a walk away as there will be plenty of opposition for him.

Beamsville meeting promises to be the best meeting ever held in the Niagara Fruit Belt. The members of the association are springing no pains to put the track in the best possible shape and they have the best horses in the land competing for the purses. Pari-mutuel betting will be conducted. Make a safe bet for yourself, be on hand at Beamsville on the 17th and see the greatest day's racing that you ever witnessed in this district.

Smithville Wins First of Finals

Tufford Hits For Four in as Many Times up — "Imps" Play Errorless Ball.

Playing the brand of ball that will win games in any man's league, the Smithville "Imps" set the Grimsby "Peach Kings" back, to the tune of 10-2 on Monday night at the public school grounds. This was the first of the best two out of three games in the Fruit Belt League final — the winner of this series going on in the O. A. S. A. play-downs.

Cocks allowed fourteen hits to Fox's twelve but kept them well scattered. The "Imps" fielded everything that came their way and played hang-up ball. They bunched 9 hits in the 3rd and 8th innings to score 8 of their 10 mek-ers.

Although having 14 hits the "Kings" had 15 men stranded, which tells the tale of woe. Tufford was the "big boy" of the evening at bat, having four hits in four times up, one being a 2-bagger.

First Inning
Smithville — C. Cocks opened with a clean single, while Pennell went down swinging. Cocks advancing to second; on a dropped ball by Schwab, Cocks advanced to third only to be thrown out on Schwab's quick retrieve; Book filed out. 1 hit, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — Southward was thrown out at first base, with McBride coming through for a single; Fox filed out. Mochenski came through with a two-bagger to score McBride, and Taylor went down swinging. 1 run, 2 hits, 0 errors.

Second Inning
Smithville — Pettigrew coaxed a long fly that was snaggled, and Merritt struck out. H. Cocks went the same route as Merritt to retire the side. 0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

Grimsby — Schwab was thrown out at first. Tufford came through with a bingle that landed him on second when V. Cosby filed out. Blenkin was thrown out on a hit to the infield. 0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Third Inning
Smithville — Adams hit safely. Wadge came up to hit an infield roller which put him automatically out while Adams advanced on Schwab's error. York pulled a walk and C. Cocks poled a hit to load the bases. Book and Pennell's hits cleared the sacks and Merritt went out on infield play, Taylor to Blenkin. 4 hits, 3 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — Southward clouted a 3-bagger and McBride went down on three strikes. Fox hit safely, scoring Southward, only to be thrown out at 2nd on an attempted steal. Mochenski's drive was knocked down and the throw to first beat him by a fraction. 2 hits, 1 run, 1 error.

Fourth Inning
Smithville — H. Cocks' bent was fielded by Fox, who pegged to first cutting him off. Adams walked, and Wadge struck out. York's short fly was gobbled up. 0 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — With Taylor and Schwab going down on fly balls, Tufford came through with another bingle. V. Cosby's single advanced Tufford to third but Blenkin was the third man down on a long fly to left field. 2 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Fifth Inning
Smithville — C. Cocks walked with Pennell getting on, on a fielder's choice. Book went to first on a fielder's choice, and Cocks' was thrown out at 3rd. Pettigrew drew a life and Merritt hit to the infield, the play being made on Pennell. 1 Cocks went out on a play Mochenski to Blenkin. 0 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — Southward was thrown out at first. McBride's long drive was knocked down in the outfield. Fox and Mochenski both hit safely only to die on base when Taylor filed out. 2 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Sixth Inning
Smithville — Adams and Wadge both fanned with York poing a high fly to the infield to retire the side. 0 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — Schwab filed to left field which was pulled down. Tufford singled. V. Cosby drove one to the outfield for two down. Tufford was thrown out on Blenkin's fielder's choice. 1 hit, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Seventh Inning
Smithville — C. Cocks pulled another walk, advancing to second when Pennell was thrown out at first. Book filed out and Pettigrew went down swinging. 0 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — Southward and McBride both went out on drives to the outfield. Fox picked off his third hit of the game but was thrown out at second on Mochenski's infield blow. 1 hit, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Sports of all Sorts

Dazzle Direct, 2:11, (McDonald up), champion three-year-old pacer and Futurity Winner of 1937. Raced at Beamsville and won the three-year-old pacing event there last year. He will race once more over the Beamsville oval on August 17th, when one of the best harness horse meets in all Ontario will be held.

STONEY CREEK SUSPENDED FOR INFRACTION OF RULES

Action of League Executive Puts Smithville And Grimsby in Finals.

Following the Stoney Creek Grimsby semi-final game last Thursday evening a meeting of the executive of the Fruit Belt Softball League was held at which, from information received, it was decided to suspend the Stoney Creek entry from further participation in this league, this season.

President V. Bryce, of St. Ann's called the attention of the executive to a letter he had received which disclosed the information that Jack Spencer, a player on the Stoney Creek team, lived at an address in Hamilton. He stated that upon investigation he had found this correct, which of course would make Spencer ineligible to play in this league.

League executives alleged this is the second offence of its kind by Stoney Creek, saying two years ago a Hamilton pitcher was a member of the team.

With the Stoney Creek representative being the only one to vote against it, a motion was passed, "That in view of the fact that Stoney Creek has played an ineligible player, Jack Spencer, of 91 Province street south, Hamilton, all season, the Stoney Creek club be suspended for the balance of the 1938 season and that a copy of the motion be sent to the Ontario Amateur Softball association."

single drove both runners home. C. Cocks filed out. 2 hits, 2 runs, 1 error.

Grimsby — Taylor was thrown out at first. Schwab struck out. Tufford poked a 2-bagger but V. Cosby's fly was caught. 1 hit, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Ninth Inning
Smithville — Pennell hit safely for 2 bases. Book went out on a fielder's choice, advancing Pennell. Pettigrew's two-bagger scored Pennell. Merritt struck out. H. Cocks walked. Adams' single scored Pettigrew. Adams going to 2nd. Wadge clouted on to score Adams, while York drove Wadge in. C. Cocks struck out. 5 hits, 5 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby — R. Cosby, pinch hitter, singled. Southward's hit put Cosby on second. McBride got on. Cosby being thrown out at third on a fielder's choice. Fox and Mochenski both filed out. 2 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

Grimsby Evened Semi-Final Series

Taylor and Blenkin Clout Home Runs to Win Second Game of Series — Tufford and McBride Also Heavy Hitters.

Overcoming a three run lead in the seventh inning of last Thursday's semi-final game, the Peach Kings tied the score and took the Stoney Creek team by a one-run margin on the game to win 6-5. Fox did mound duty for the Kings and was only in difficulty during the game in the second, when a fielder's choice and two hits, — one a home run, — scored two runs for the Creek. Again in the fourth a walk and two hits netted the Creek team two runs, otherwise the hits were few and far between.

With the exception of the first inning, the Peach Kings got to Green for plenty of hits, gathering in sixteen in all. Taylor, McBride and Tufford split the honors in this respect with three each. Taylor's two home runs were the highlights of the game, both clouts accounting for five of his team's six runs. George Blenkin came through with a circuit clout in the eighth to break a 3-5 tie and put the still ball game in the bag.

Smithville "Imps" Defeat Beamsville

Playing before one of the biggest crowds of the season, the Smithville "Imps" took Dick Morley's "Pirates" for a ride at the public school grounds last Friday, when they defeated them 22-2. This was the third time these two teams had met in the semi-finals. The first game, played in Beamsville resulted in a win for the "Imps" while the second game at Smithville ended in a tie. It was decided the third game would be played at Grimsby and if Beamsville won, the tie game would be replayed at Smithville. However, it was a nice ball game until the sixth inning when the Beamsville team "blew" with the result that the "Imps" laid on the willow and gathered in fourteen runs in this one inning. Pete Tufford pitched a grand game of ball up until the time his teammates started to kick the old pill around. Franklin relieved Tufford after this but the Smithville boys could not be held down and kept up the slaughter until they had gathered in 22 runs.

O.A.S.A. Send Representative

Ernie B. Smith, Pres. O. A. S. A., Voices Opinion on Action of Fruit Belt Solons.

At a meeting of the Fruit Belt Softball League executive held at the Independent office on Monday night, the Stoney Creek suspension case was re-opened. Through the request of Stoney Creek, who appealed to the parent body, (the O.A.S.A.) Ernie B. Smith, President of the O.A.S.A., was present to sit in the meeting.

Last Thursday, the Stoney Creek team was suspended, due to the ineligibility of Jack Spencer. It had been determined that Spencer was living outside the Fruit Belt boundary, thus making him ineligible. The Stoney Creek executive took the matter up with the O.A.S.A. executive on the grounds that the decision was more severe than the offence warranted.

Mr. Smith's statement to the executive was to the effect that "you are running your own league and that is perfectly all right with us. We can't butt into your league and have no intention of doing so. One of your teams asked to have a decision reconsidered. I think it is a fine gesture of you to call this meeting for that purpose. If you want to withdraw your official notice to the O.A.S.A. of Stoney Creek's suspension, it is perfectly O.K. with us." This notice to the O.A.S.A. meant that the Creek team would also be under association suspension and would not be permitted to engage in exhibition games.

A motion was passed that the words "and a copy of this be sent to the O.A.S.A." be struck out from the original motion thus leaving the Creek the opportunity of participating in exhibition games, although still upholding the suspension.

In a statement to the press later, Mr. Smith said that in his opinion, the Stoney Creek team was definitely in the wrong and that the action by the Fruit Belt executive in suspending the team as a whole was perfectly right.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON PREVIEWED

Ruth—Adventurous Faith PREVIEW OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 14 is Proverbs 4:10-23; 1 Thessalonians 5:6-8, the Golden Text being Proverbs 20:1. "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

THE WISE MAN, in our Golden Text, likens strong drink to a raging giant, by his deception leading foolish people to their destruction.

Two Paths

Speaking as a father to his son, Solomon passes on the sound counsel his own father, King David, had given to him, pointing out to him two possible paths of life for him to follow, one wise and safe, the other foolish and destructive: "Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the years of thy life shall be many. I have taught thee in the way of wisdom; I have led thee in paths of uprightness. When thou goest thy steps shall not be straightened; and if thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble. Take fast hold for instruction; let her not go: Keep her for she is thy life." Why should not parents take sufficient interest in their children to give such counsel on right ways of living? Are we so dumb as not to realize that it is far more important we leave great children to carry on our business after us than that we have a great business for them to carry on? Why leave the character building of our children to agencies outside the home—Sunday school, public school, Scouts and the like? None can give this instruction so early, so frequently, so appropriately or so effectively as those who alone are entitled to preface the instruction with those intimate terms, "My son," "My daughter." We are in special need of highway markers, if the way we travel is new to us. Life is like that to youth. Therefore, those who have travelled the way should give helpful guidance to those to whom the way is new and untraveled.

Warning Signs

"Enter not into the path of the wicked, and walk not in the way of evil men. Avoid it, pass not by it; turn from it and pass on. For they sleep not, except they do evil; and their sleep is taken away, unless they cause some to fall. For they eat the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine of violence." Street walkers, panderers and prostitutes infect our streets to accost our youth, and lead them to debauchery, disease and death. Why should parents join a conspiracy of silence regarding the moral hazards of our highways and erect no warning signs concerning the deadly perils of drunkenness, adultery, gambling and the like? By radio, bill-board and magazine advertisements, our youth are enticed to indulge in the use of intoxicants as never before. It is the more necessary that by precept and example they be taught in the home the perils of what this lesson calls "drinking the wine of violence."

The Safe Road

The safe road is commended thus: "The path of the righteous is as the dawning light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day. The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble. My son, attend to my words . . . Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." The same counsel to self-discipline that Solomon gave was repeated a thousand years later by St. Paul, saying, "Let us watch and be sober. . . . They that are drunken are drunken in the night. But let us since we are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for a helmet, the hope of salvation."

Proverbs 20:1—"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

THE OLD COAT

I have come to a conclusion, After much thought in seclusion, That a coat that hangs upon our kitchen door, Has for twenty years been serving Me much more than I'm deserving, But I'm going to wear that coat a whole lot more. While the lining's torn and tattered, And the sleeves are both much battered, There is comfort in that dear old coat for me, Though in spots it's ragged, raveled, (For it certainly has travelled), I still wear it when we don't have com-pan-ee. There are holes in all the pockets, And it's ripped in both arm sockets, But the buttons still stick to it like a friend; Wife threatens she will burn it, Or to garbage she will turn it, But no sir! That coat will come to no such end. I can dig the garden in it, Happy as a singing linnnet, But there's one thing that does always get my goat; When there's a comp'ny comes a calling, Say, you ought to hear the bawling That I get from wife who yells: "Take off that coat." So I sneak into the kitchen, It is then my wife does pitch in, And says: "Wearing that you look like some old bloot, I'm ashamed those folk'll see you, So you answer me, now be you Goin' t' shed those rags and don your other coat?" So then I, in quickest measure, Slip out of that ancient treasure, And I climb into my Sunday coat once more; But there is no pleasure in it, No, not for a half a minute, Like it, that old coat upon the kitchen door.

SHIPWRECK Under the Willows

We, who by shipwreck only find the shores Of divine wisdom, can but kneel at first, Can but exult to find beneath our feet, That long stretched vainly down the yielding deeps, The shock of sustenance of solid earth; Inland afar we see what temples gleam Through immemorial stems of sacred groves, And we conjecture shining shapes therein; Yet for a space 'tis good to wander here Among the shells and seaweed of the beach.

—James Russell Lowell

EQUINOCTIAL

The sun of life has crossed the line; The summer-ship of lengthened light Faded and failed, till, where I stand, 'Tis equal day and equal night.

One after one, as dwindling hours, Youth's glowing hopes have dropped away, And soon may barely leave the gleam That coldly scores a winter's day.

I am not young; I am not old; The flush of morn, the sunset calm, Fading and deepening, each to each, Meeting midway with a solemn charm.

One side I see the summer fields, Not yet disrobbed of all their green; While westerly, along the hills, Flame the first tints of frosty sheen.

Ah, middle-point, where cloud and storm Make battle-ground of this my life! Where, even-matched, the night and day Wage round me their September strife!

I bow me to the threatening gale: I know when that is overpast, Among the peaceful harvest days, An Indian Summer comes at last! —Adeline D. T. Whitney

TO A NEW-BORN BABY GIRL

And did thy supple shallop slip Its moorings suddenly, to dip Adown the clear, ethereal sea From star to star, all silently? What tenderness of archangels In silver thrilling syllables Pursued thee, or what dulcet hymn Low-chanted by the cherubim? And thou departing must have heard The holy Mary's farewell word, Who with deep eyes and wistful smile Remembered Earth a little while.

Now from the coasts of morning pale Comes safe to port thy tiny sail, Now have we seen by early sun, Thy miracle of life begun. All breathing and aware thou art, With beauty tempered in thy heart To let thee recognize the thrill Of wings along far azure hill, And hear within the hollow sky Thy friends the angels rushing by.

These shall recall that thou hast known Their distant country as thine own, To spare thee word of woes and streams, And publish heaven through thy dreams. The human accents of the breeze Through swaying star-acquainted trees Shall seem a voice heard earlier, Her voice, the adoring sign of her, When thou amid rosy cherub-play Didst hear her call thee, far away, And dream in very Paradise The worship of thy mother's eyes.

NOTES ON Canadian Birds By G.H. RICHARDSON

Last week mention was made of the Still Sandpiper and its resemblance to the Lesser Yellow-legs.

Despite the similarity of color, the two are such distinct personalities that often a glance is sufficient to distinguish them. As it walks, the Still Sandpiper carries its bill aimed down at an angle between the vertical and 45 degrees, the Yellow-legs hold it between 45 degrees and the horizontal. The former will pause and plunge its head down, beneath the surface if necessary, to probe the mud below for food, and of course since its head is so far down, its tail sticks up at a greater angle than the latter's.

Often you can pick the two out from a mixed flock by just glancing over them and noting the different angle of elevation. Looking through a glass, you see such points as the yellow-green legs of the first instead of bright orange-yellow, and the heavier, slightly down-curved bill. If a suspected Still Sandpiper jerks its head, it is a Yellow-legs.

Pileated Woodpecker is Large In the forests across the country we have the Pileated Woodpecker. Being such a large bird (nearly crow size) it is fairly frequently seen. It is all black and white except the crest. In the male this is scarlet, in the female only the top half is scarlet, the rest being brownish gray. The male has a wine-colored moustache mark, the female a black one. The Pileated's notes are very like a Flicker's, but much louder, and their sharpness makes them ring across the distance in a way which the mellow Flicker notes can not.

Many birds raise their head feathers in various states of excitement. You have noticed how a canary will raise and lower its crown feathers when a stranger approaches too close to its cage. Birds with crests show their feelings at greater distances.

Usually the crest is flattened down. Sometimes when a Pileated Woodpecker has flown some distance and just alighted on some stub protruding above the surrounding foliage its sends out an echoing shout raising and lowering its crest in apparent exuberance of spirit.

Few Adult Marsh Hawks

By now, young Marsh Hawks are shifting for themselves, and become a regular part of the marsh and meadow landscape. As they beat back and forth, turning and banking, you see the white rump patch and recognize your bird. The young are not exactly like either parent, but mostly resemble the female. Where she is gray-brown with streaks, they are more orange-brown with less streaking on the breast. Very few adults are in evidence, the proportion of the young to old Marsh Hawks being evidently very large.

Immature Marsh Hawk

Stomach analysis shows that they eat mostly small mammals, but the shore-birds almost invariably fly up in alarm when one passes by following its beaten path. They do eat small birds when they can capture them, and doubtless appreciate a course of Sandpiper as much as did gunners of 50 years ago.

General Council Meet In Toronto

Governing Body of United Church of Canada Meet September 21st.

For the second time since the consummation of Union in 1925, the General Council of The United Church of Canada, the representative governing body of that Communion, will meet in Toronto, on September 21st. In view of that event, the following brief facts should be of interest to Canadians at this time:

The United Church of Canada was inaugurated on June 10th, 1925, by the union of the Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches.

The membership in full communion is 998,738. The families number 461,173. Persons under pastoral oversight number 1,739,145. There are 5,865 Sunday Schools in the United Church, with a total membership of 588,258, including teachers and officers.

The United Church maintains 1272 missionary workers in 995 Home Mission fields in Canada and Newfoundland. There are 273 missionaries under the Board of Foreign Missions at work in eight Foreign fields, in Africa, Japan, China, India, Korea and Trinidad. The Women's Missionary Society supports 350 missionaries in home and foreign fields.

Theological education is conducted in eight colleges, where 385 candidates for the ministry are enrolled; and three Universities with arts faculties. The Church sponsors 11 secondary schools. The total enrolment in these institutions is 5929.

The character and history of The United Church of Canada make it natural for it to be interested in all attempts to foster unity among Christian bodies. It has been concerned in the formation of a World Council of Churches, which was one of the most important achievements arising out of the Edinburgh and Oxford Conferences. For many years the United Church has extended co-operation to sister Communion in the fields of social and moral reform, missions, preservation of the Lord's Day and relief.

STAMP CORNER

BY JAMES MONTAGNES

Is stamp collecting on a decline in a question now being asked in United States philatelic circles, with the published receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, for the philatelic agency down $2,000,000 from last year's $1,945,000. There are those who hold that speculation in recent United States issues is the cause, while others in the postal department state that there really is no drop in philatelic purchases of new issues, rather an increase. Reason for the increase is the fact that there are now special philatelic wickets in all first and second class post-offices throughout the union, which makes it possible for dealers as well as collectors to buy whatever new issues they want in their own city without having to send to Washington for the stamps. Added advantage to the local philatelic wickets is that a purchaser can take his choice from the stamps the postmaster has for sale. There are, however, no figures available showing separately the purchases made from such local philatelic wickets.

While other countries have issued many stamps in a short period, with the result that such a country has been given a philatelic black eye, the United States continues to put out new issues with great frequency without suffering any drop in its popularity with stamp collectors as a country to collect. No less than 16 new stamps were placed on sale during the past year, and yet there is only a slight drop in Washington philatelic agency receipts which is more than made up for by the receipts at philatelic wickets in other cities. Reasons advanced for this continued popularity not experienced by other mass stamp issuing countries are, first, that the United States prints only one value commemorative issue of either three cents or five cents value, thus within the reach of everyone; and secondly that unlike other countries United States stamps are good for postage at any time, commemorative issues not being demonetized or made valueless for postage.

Washington philatelic agency receipts in recent years have been: 1933, $2,340,000 (due to Farley imperforates); 1932, $1,946,000; 1931, $1,945,000; 1930, $1,866,752.

RAYON A VERSATILE AND USEFUL FABRIC

This rayon versus silk debate which grows apace should interest you in the highly respectable pedigree of rayon. Don't think of it as something belonging to the little pink bloomer department. It's an excellent fabric. They say it's all a matter of diet. The silk worm dines on mulberry leaves (containing cellulose) and turns out silk, which is highly protein in content and requires special dyestuffs. Rayon also demands its share of cellulose, but gets around and uses spruce trees and cotton linters as well as mulberry leaves. Meanwhile, the silk worm grinds out the same size fiber with monotonous lack of imagination, while rayon can be spun to any desired size from finer than silk to coarse as horsehair. This versatility means rayon fabrics can take on the qualities of silk, wool, linen or cotton at the drop of a hat.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Proverbs 4:10-23; 1 Thee. 5:6-8.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell
And Alfred J. Burcher

King Solomon wrote many proverbs for the guidance of youth in wholesome living and the building of good character. "Enter not into the path of the wicked, and walk not in the way of evil men."

He warned against intemperance and those that "eat the bread of wickedness and drink the wine of violence. . . . My son, keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life."

St. Paul, a thousand years after Solomon wrote to the Thessalonians: "Let us watch and be sober. . . . Let us, since we are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love."

Both Solomon and Paul likened intemperance to a way of darkness. "But the path of the righteous is as the dawning light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." (GOLDEN TEXT—Proverbs 20:1.)

County Roads Need Beautifying

Roads Considered Show Windows of The Farm -- Give Bad Impression When Marred by Weeds.

Farmers and city dwellers alike, will agree that country roads are the show windows of Ontario farms and are largely responsible for advertising products of the soil. If roads are marred by an unsightly growth of weeds, tourists get a bad impression and urban residents lose faith in rural Ontario as a producer of agricultural products second to none in the world.

There are seven good reasons why roadside weeds should be wiped out of existence. They (1) infest adjoining farm lands; (2) spread plant diseases; (3) are dangerous to traffic; (4) will gather and hold snow; (5) clog ditches on roadsides and thus hinder the flow of water and proper drainage of the road bed; (6) are dangerous from a fire standpoint; (7) are unsightly to residents and tourists alike.

The Weed Control Act of Ontario states roadside weeds must be destroyed before seeds mature. The Municipal Council, through its road authority, is responsible for seeing that this work is done. Proper grading of roadsides and removal of stones, stumps and brush will enable the road authority to do this work quickly and efficiently. A thick seeding of a good grass mixture will make a thick sod which prevents weeds from obtaining a foothold.

Chemical weed killers have proved efficient and many municipalities have greatly improved county and township roads in a weed cleanup via the chemical route.

Maybe your municipality has helped you out in this manner. If not, why not?

Don't forget the municipality is responsible for eradication of all noxious weeds within its boundaries.

Ontario Boasts Modern Roads

Highway Facilities Modern As Any in World -- New Method of Building Costlier.

The building of a modern highway is an engineering project today that compares with some of the great Canadian railroad developments of a few years ago.

Many highways built only 18 years ago are obsolete today and the factor of time has become an even greater one than formerly in meeting the advanced standards of highway services. Ontario's first "super-highway", the double lane Middle Road from Toronto to Hamilton, was seven years in the making.

Because it took a middle course between the heavily travelled Lakeshore and Dundas routes few motorists were even aware of its development, until its incomparable facilities were opened to traffic in 1937.

Compared with the mass production of autos which provides each year an increasing highway traffic problem for the Ontario Department of Highways, its engineers are hampered by the awkward limitations of time and cost in their efforts to keep pace. Nevertheless this province has far outstripped its sister provinces in highway development.

Its 75,000 mile system is perhaps singular among any provincial or state projects on this continent because of the geographic area, virtually national in its physical extent and diversity. Despite the immensity of the system, it boasts today existing highway facilities as modern as any in the world and a programme already launched, which is to extend this type of advanced highway from Quebec to Michigan.

The new method of building highways is the hard way but it is the means of permanency, greater safety and facility. It is a costlier method of course, but it means greater economies for motorists.

In one project alone now under development, the great North Road which will stretch Northward from Toronto to Timmins 500 miles, motorists will travel 75 miles less than over existing routes. This great road is becoming a model of the new engineering standards, stretching out—high-graded in railway fashion, levelled for safety, and straightaway for travelling facility and comfort.

The worst enemies of China asters are the tarnished plant bug, which can often be repelled by using tobacco dust; the aster beetle which defies everything but hand picking, and the yellow disease which may be avoided if every aphid is caught by a nicotine spray.

Protection against prolonged drought

When a prolonged drought threatens gardens or plantings around home gardens, special methods of watering must be undertaken in order to save them.

During time of drought shrub borders, rose beds and evergreen plantings can be benefited by digging temporary irrigation trenches, as shown in this Garden-Graph, and then filling them with water at intervals so the roots of the plants can soak up needed moisture which they would not receive from mere surface watering.

Make the trenches from three to eight inches deep. A narrow bed should have one trench through the centre while a wide bed may require two. Allow the water to run slowly into the trench for several hours or fill the trench with water, let it seep down to the plant roots and then refill the trench again. After this has been done a dozen times the plants will have received enough water to carry them through the drought period, and the trench can be refilled with soil.

Pre-Cooling And Refrigeration of Fruit For Preservation

(Experimental Farm News)

The development of the use of refrigeration for fruit preservation has been very rapid during the past decade due to the increased demand of the consumer for a product of first class quality. In addition there has been a steady increase in fruit production throughout the world and this has led to an all-year-round demand and the need for a uniform supply, thereby avoiding glut with concurrent low price levels, states C. A. Eaves, Graduate Assistant in Fruit Storage, Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S. Large quantities of apples and pears are shipped to the markets of the United Kingdom each year from Canada and refrigeration plays its part not only in the holding of these fruits, but also in their transportation.

A distinction must be made at the outset between the two methods of cold storage. The first designated as "pre-cooling", and the second as "long holding". Pre-cooling refers to the rapid cooling of fruits down to a temperature of approximately 40 degrees F. within twenty-four hours after harvest and is particularly applicable to pears, plums and the early dessert varieties of apples. Experiments at the Experimental Station, Kentville, have shown that packed barrels of apples may be cooled from 70 degrees F. to 40 degrees F. in twenty-four hours at a room temperature of 20 degrees F. with moving air. Such a process prevents the rapid ripening of freshly picked fruit by removal of what is known as the "vital heat". It may be safely stated in this connection that even though pre-cooled fruit may be subsequently exposed to relatively high temperatures during transportation, its condition on arrival is far better than that of fruits not subjected to such treatment.

The term "long holding" necessarily speaks for itself, but this method of cold storage is full of pitfalls and has thus been the source of much investigation by the Experimental Farm Service. Three experimental cold storage plants are now in operation, at Ottawa, Kentville, N.S., and Summerland, B.C. The main object of the experiments being undertaken is to provide the public with better quality fruit out of season. Quality of fruit in storage is dependent upon a great many factors and not the least important of these are those concerned with the growing fruit upon the tree such as soil and seasonal conditions and the stage of maturity at harvest time.

It has been found that storage quality is much affected by the kind and amount of fertilizer applied to the tree. Excess nitrogen is detrimental in this respect, where a moderate application of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, i.e. a balanced fertilizer, has always given favourable results.

Seasons in which there is an excessive rainfall and little sunshine are not conducive to good keeping in storage and likewise very dry periods followed by heavy rainfall.

The tendency to harvest immature apples is very soon reflected in storage by the development of internal breakdowns known as core flush. This disorder is very marked in the immature McIntosh apple. Similarly Wagener apples which are not allowed to colour on the tree are very susceptible to mould in storage.

Core flush development is also influenced by fertilizer treatment and by storage temperature. Strangely enough, however, certain storage temperatures may be conducive to core flush in one variety but not in another. For example, the Fameuse apple is susceptible to this disease at 40 degrees F. and resistant at 32 degrees F. whereas the reverse is true of McIntosh. Low temperatures such as 32 degrees are desirable from the point of view of control of fungal decay. The problem therefore with apples is to avoid low temperature types of breakdown, and at the same time prevent rotting of the fruit.

There are several types of storage disorders and the control of these is rendered extremely complex when it is considered that each variety reacts specifically in storage to the major influences of temperature and stage of maturity at harvest.

MARITIME GUIDES TO HOLD SPORTS' MEET

One of the outstanding events in the Maritime Provinces is the sports meet of the Nova Scotia Guides Association held at Lake William, near New Germany, on the lines of the Canadian National Railways. The meet this year is being held August 8 to 13, and a record attendance is anticipated.

The list of events includes canoe races, log rolling, log chopping, log sawing, kettle boiling, pancake frying, skeet and trap shooting, fly casting, moose calling, swimming, diving and baseball. Last year the meet was attended by hundreds of visitors particularly from the United States. The meet is held as a huge outdoor camp with cabins and tents providing accommodation.

CROP REPORT

Splendid development is being made in the growth of apples with early varieties of good quality now available in commercial volume. A considerable tonnage of Montmorency cherries is still unharvested although there is still some movement in this line to the processors. White Flesh and Yellow Cling peaches are increasing in volume, with Swans now available in commercial quantities. Later varieties are developing rapidly. The tomato crop shows a heavy movement both locally and to distant points. The market in pears is quite light in early varieties at present. Commercial volume including Clapp's Favourite is expected about August 12th.

FRUIT GROWERS

chell explained he understood that United States interests had also asked the preference afforded Canadian and other Empire produce exported to Great Britain be reduced. The reduction of from six and four shillings to two shillings would seriously affect the Canadian apple exporting trade.

J. A. Hamilton of Niagara Falls, introduced a resolution requesting that the dump duty be made applicable to all imported stock in storage on the date the duty becomes effective. C. R. Brown, of Fonthill, said this would be unworkable. A resolution was suggested which could be forwarded to the Horticultural Council for discussion with other provincial representatives and a report could be submitted to the Government.

Mr. Hamilton said the market was flooded with early American-grown cabbage this spring which had been held in storage prior to the application of the tariff.

Speakers all agreed that if the dump duty were removed it would be the death knell of the agricultural industry in Canada.

The dump duty is a fixed tariff which is applied to various produce imported from the United States at a time when the article is in season in Canada. It is a tariff in addition to the regular ad valorem duty.

TO HAVE PHEASANT SHOOT THIS FALL

From one to three days' pheasant shooting will be authorized by the Department of Game and Fisheries in October this year. It has been announced. In Lincoln County the hunting will be restricted to Caledonia, Gainsboro, Grantham, Louth, Niagara and North and South Grimsby Townships.

Each township will issue from 100 to 250 special licenses and the township clerks will have the right to reject any application if in their opinion the applicant does not appear to be a real sportsman.

This system is an extension of the policy of last fall when the various townships where open seasons for the birds were established co-operated amicably with the Department.

RUIN AND HAVOC

Wright's Groceries was, in all probability, the heaviest loser, the flood being several inches deep on the store floor. A great quantity of goods was destroyed by the black muck and water, and a staff of about ten persons worked all night to clean up the ruin. The Beamsville Garage was under water from 18 inches to two feet. Some of the water entered Wilcox's Hardware, and in Stadelmeier's orchard at the west end of the village, it reached to the crotch of the pear trees, being about four feet deep. The greatest volume of water coursed down the hill and through the basket factory, 15 inches deep, to carry pieces of lumber, etc., right across the main street. It came with such force when it "spouted" out the side door, that the hard surface pavement was ripped out in places. At the creek beside R. O. Wilcox's home, on a side street, the water was unable to find an outlet through the culvert and backed up to an estimated depth of fourteen feet, completely covering apple trees growing along its banks.

District Flooded

On the north side of No. 8 highway, between it and the Middle Rd. vineyards were flooded to a height of approximately four feet and practically all tomato and other vegetable crops were ruined in many places.

Highway officials were on hand clearing the road in this section, the water and mud being over a foot deep. At one point on the highway, boulders about a foot square had been washed down the bank and were lying on the road. It is estimated that many thousands of dollars damage was done through this storm and it will be days before the ruin and havoc created is cleaned up. Reeve J. R. Kennedy, of Beamsville stated last night that it was the worst storm he had ever witnessed in this district.

FIRE, ACCIDENT

General Hospital in serious condition with second degree burns sustained in a gasoline explosion during Sunday night. Both his arms are badly burned to the elbows and he is suffering from shock.

Webb was apparently working with a container of gasoline and carrying a lighted lantern in one hand at the same time. The flame from the lantern is said to have ignited fumes from the gasoline and caused an explosion and fire. His cries brought quick assistance and he was removed from the scene before his clothing, other than his coat, took fire. Drs. Gordon A. Sinclair and Benson T. Rogers, rendered medical aid and removed him to Hospital immediately.

Grimsby fire department was called to the scene to put out fire which endangered equipment but the threatening blaze had been extinguished before they could reach the Beach.
